

Centre for Research on Language, Mind, & Brain, McGill University

Postdoctoral Fellowships

Two postdoctoral fellowships are available to begin as early as January, 2006. The Post-doctoral fellows will collaborate with members of the Centre for Research on Language, Mind and Brain on a project related to language and cognition, which fulfills the centre mandate for interdisciplinary study within these fields.

The fellowships offer an annual salary of $40,000 for a period of two years from start date. The Centre does not provide additional funds for travel and research, nor will funding be extended beyond the two-year period. Such funding may, however, be negotiated with individual supervisors.

Eligibility:

A candidate must hold, or be at the final stages of completing a Ph.D. in any field related to the study of speech and language at an accredited university. Candidates with more than five years of post-Ph.D. research training by the competition deadline are not eligible to apply for this award. Any interruption in a candidate's post-Ph.D. research training will be taken into account in determining eligibility.

Application Process

To apply for one of these fellowships, please consult a current list of Centre members at <http://www.crlmb.mcgill.ca/initiatives/about/members.html> and secure a commitment from a least one centre member who will act as your advisor, and then send:

- Your CV
- the application form, in which the following information is required: background and training, career goals, areas of research interest and research skills and the relevance to CRLMB's research interest areas, and personal goals and expected outcomes for the post-doctoral fellowship. This letter must address the candidate's interest in issues of human communication as well as CRLMB's specific topic areas.
- a detailed project description or description of particular interest in CRLMB's research areas
- two reprints, manuscripts or brief sections of a doctoral dissertation and publications that demonstrate writing ability and analytical methods used in research
- two written references, preferably from the most recent research supervisors (to be mailed by the references). References should speak about the suitability of the

- applicant for this program and in particular the relevance of the applicant's interests in CRLMB's research area
- Transcripts (including undergraduate work) - copies will be accepted

The CRLMB Student Affairs committee will begin assessing applications as of December 1, 2005 and will continue until the positions are filled.

Please send one electronic copy and one hard copy of your application to:
Lisa Coady (e-mail address format: firstname.lastname@mcgill.ca)
Coordinator, Centre for Research on Language, Mind and Brain
1266 Pine Avenue West
Montreal, QC H3G 1A8

Please write to the same address for further information about the application or review process.

Successful candidates will be expected to submit semi-annual progress reports to the Centre
